Table of Contents

Volume 1

TITLE 1. INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 1. PREPARING AND PRESENTING THE EVIDENCE
§ 1 Planning and preparation of proof as important as the rules of evidence
§ 2 Preparation for trial on the facts without resort to the court’s aid
§ 3 Invoking the court’s aid in preparing for trial: Right to interview witnesses; discovery and depositions; requests for admission; pretrial conferences
§ 4 The order of presenting evidence at the trial

TITLE 2. EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES

CHAPTER 2. THE FORM OF QUESTIONS ON DIRECT; THE JUDGE’S WITNESSES; REFRESHING MEMORY
§ 5 The form of questions: (a) Questions calling for a free narrative versus specific questions
§ 6 The form of questions: (b) Leading questions
§ 7 The form of questions: (c) Argumentative, misleading, and indefinite questions
§ 8 The judge may call witnesses; the judge and jurors may question witnesses
§ 9 Refreshing recollection

CHAPTER 3. THE REQUIREMENT OF FIRSTHAND KNOWLEDGE: THE OPINION RULE & EXPERT TESTIMONY
§ 10 The requirement of firsthand knowledge from observation
§ 11 The evolution of the rule against opinions: Opinions of laypersons; applicability of restrictions to out-of-court statements
§ 12 Expert witnesses: Overview—Ncessity; proper subjects for expert testimony; reliability; qualifications
§ 13 Reliability: The validity of the expert’s methodology
§ 14 Reliability: The case-specific facts analyzed; personal knowledge; hypothetical questions; secondhand reports
§ 15 Reliability: The manner in which the expert applied the methodology to the case-specific facts
§ 16 Reliability: The expert’s conclusion; the limitations on the phrasing of the expert’s opinion
§ 17 The cross-examination of experts
§ 18 Proposals for improving the practices relating to expert testimony

CHAPTER 4. CROSS-EXAMINATION AND SUBSEQUENT EXAMINATIONS
§ 19 The right of cross-examination: Effect of denial of opportunity to cross-examine
§ 20 Form of interrogation
§ 21 Scope of cross-examination: Restriction to matters opened up on direct: the various rules
§ 22 Cross-examination to impeach not limited to the scope of the direct
§ 23 Formal and practical consequences of the restrictive rules: effect on order of proof: Side-effects
§ 24 The scope of the judge’s discretion under the wide-open and restrictive rules
§ 25 Application of wide-open and restrictive rules to the cross-examination of parties: (a) Civil parties
§ 26 Application of wide-open and restrictive rules to the cross-examination of parties: (b) The accused in a criminal case
§ 27 A comparison of the systems of wide-open and restricted cross-examination
§ 28 Cross-examination about witness’s inconsistent past writings: Must examiner show the writing to the witness before questioning about its contents?
§ 29 The standard of relevancy as applied on cross-examination: Trial judge’s discretion
§ 30 The cross-examiner’s art
§ 31 Cross-examination revalued
§ 32 Redirect and subsequent examinations

CHAPTER 5. IMPEACHMENT AND SUPPORT
§ 33 Introduction: Bolstering, impeachment, and rehabilitation
§ 34 Prior inconsistent statement impeachment: Degree of inconsistency required
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>§ 35</td>
<td>Prior inconsistent statements: Opinion in form</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 36</td>
<td>Prior inconsistent statements: Extrinsic evidence and previous statements as substantive evidence of the facts stated</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 37</td>
<td>Prior inconsistent statements: Requirement of preliminary questions on cross-examination as “foundation” for proof by extrinsic evidence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 38</td>
<td>Prior inconsistent statements: Rule against impeaching one’s own witness</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 39</td>
<td>Bias and partiality</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 40</td>
<td>Character: In general</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 41</td>
<td>Character: Misconduct, for which there has been no criminal conviction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 42</td>
<td>Character: Conviction of crime</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 43</td>
<td>Character: Impeachment by Proof of Opinion or Bad Reputation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 44</td>
<td>Defects of capacity: Sensory or mental</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 45</td>
<td>Impeachment by “specific contradiction”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 46</td>
<td>Beliefs concerning religion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 47</td>
<td>Supporting the witness</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 48</td>
<td>Attacking the supporting character witness</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 49</td>
<td>Collateral and non-collateral matters</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 50</td>
<td>Exclusion and separation of witnesses</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TITLE 3. ADMISSION AND EXCLUSION

CHAPTER 6. THE PROCEDURE OF ADMITTING AND EXCLUDING EVIDENCE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>§ 51</td>
<td>The Proponent: Presentation of evidence: Offer of proof</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 52</td>
<td>The Opponent: Objecting</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 53</td>
<td>The Trial Judge: Deciding preliminary questions of fact arising on objections</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 54</td>
<td>Availability as proof of evidence admitted without objection</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 55</td>
<td>Waiver of objection</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 56</td>
<td>The effect of the introduction of part of a writing or conversation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 57</td>
<td>Fighting fire with fire: Inadmissible evidence as opening the door</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 58</td>
<td>Admissibility of evidence dependent on proof of other facts: “Connecting up”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 59</td>
<td>Evidence admissible for one purpose, inadmissible for another: “Limited admissibility”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 60</td>
<td>Admission and exclusion of evidence in bench trials without a jury</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
TITLE 4. COMPETENCY

CHAPTER 7. THE COMPETENCY OF WITNESSES

§ 61 Competency of witnesses, in general
§ 62 Mental incapacity and immaturity: Oath or affirmation
§ 63 Religious belief
§ 64 Conviction of crime
§ 65 Parties and persons interested: The dead man statutes
§ 66 Husbands and wives of parties
§ 67 Incompetency of husband and wife to give testimony on non-access
§ 68 Judges, jurors and lawyers
§ 69 Firsthand knowledge and expertness
§ 70 The procedure of disqualification
§ 71 Probable future of the rules of competency

TITLE 5. PRIVILEGE: COMMON LAW AND STATUTORY

CHAPTER 8. THE SCOPE AND EFFECT OF THE EVIDENTIARY PRIVILEGES

§ 72 The purposes of rules of privilege: (a) Other rules of evidence distinguished § 72.1 The purposes of rules of privilege: (b) Certain rules distinguished
§ 73 Procedural recognition of rules of privilege
§ 73.1 Procedural recognition of rules of privilege: (a) Who may assert?
§ 73.2 Procedural recognition of rules of privilege: (b) Where may privilege be asserted? Rules of privilege in conflict of laws
§ 74 Limitations on the effectiveness of privileges: (a) Risk of eavesdropping and interception of letters
§ 74.1 Limitations on the effectiveness of privileges: (b) Adverse arguments and inferences from claims of privilege
§ 74.2 Limitations on the effectiveness of privileges: (c) Constitutional limitations on privilege
§ 75 The sources of privilege
§ 76 The current pattern of privilege
§ 76.1 The current pattern of privilege: (a) Privilege in federal courts; what law applies?
TABLE OF CONTENTS

§ 76.2 The current pattern of privilege: (b) State patterns of privilege; recognizing new privileges
§ 77 The future of privilege

CHAPTER 9. THE PRIVILEGE FOR MARITAL COMMUNICATIONS
§ 78 History and background, and kindred rules
§ 79 What is privileged: Communications only, or acts and facts?
§ 80 The communication must be confidential
§ 81 The time of making the communication: Marital status
§ 82 Hazards of disclosure to third persons against the will of the communicating spouse
§ 83 Who is the holder of the privilege? Enforcement and waiver
§ 84 Controversies in which the privilege is inapplicable
§ 85 If the communication was made during the marriage, does death or divorce end the privilege?
§ 86 Policy and future of the marital communications privilege

CHAPTER 10. THE CLIENT'S PRIVILEGE: COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN CLIENT & LAWYER
§ 87 Background and policy of the privilege: (a) Theoretical considerations
§ 87.1 Background and policy of the privilege: (b) Applications in corporate, governmental and other entity settings
§ 88 The professional relationship
§ 89 Subject-matter of the privilege: (a) Communications
§ 90 Subject-matter of the privilege: (b) Fact of employment and identity of the client
§ 91 The confidential character of the communications: Communications intended to be made public; presence of third persons and agents
§ 91.1 The confidential character of the communications: Joint consultations and employments; controversies between client and attorney
§ 92 The client as the holder of the privilege: Who may assert, and who complain on appeal of its denial?
§ 93 Waiver
§ 94 The effect of the death of the client
§ 95 Consultation in furtherance of crime or fraud
§ 96 Protective rules relating to materials collected for use of counsel in preparation for trial: Reports of employees, witness-statements, experts’ reports, and the like

§ 97 Discovery in criminal cases: Statements by witnesses

CHAPTER 11. THE PRIVILEGE FOR CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION SECURED IN THE COURSE OF THE PHYSICIAN-PATIENT RELATIONSHIP

§ 98 The statement of the rule and its purpose
§ 99 Relation of physician and patient
§ 100 Subject matter of the privilege: Information acquired in attending the patient and necessary for prescribing
§ 101 The confidential character of the disclosure: Presence of third persons and members of family; information revealed to nurses and attendants; public records
§ 102 Rule of privilege, not incompetency: Privilege belongs to the patient, not to an objecting party as such; effect of the patient’s death
§ 103 What constitutes a waiver of the privilege?
§ 104 Kinds of proceedings exempted from the application of the privilege
§ 105 The policy and future of the privilege

CHAPTER 12. PRIVILEGES FOR GOVERNMENTAL SECRETS

§ 106 Other principles distinguished
§ 107 The common law privileges for military or diplomatic secrets and other facts the disclosure of which would be contrary to the public interest
§ 108 Qualified privileges for government information: The constitutional presidential privilege; common law privileges for agency deliberations and law enforcement files
§ 109 Effect of the presence of the government as a litigant
§ 110 The scope of the judge’s function in determining the validity of the claim of privilege
§ 111 The privilege against the disclosure of the identity of an informer
§ 112 Statutory privileges for certain reports of individuals to government agencies: Accident reports, tax returns, etc.
§ 113 The secrecy of grand jury proceedings: Votes and expressions of grand jurors; testimony of witnesses
Title 6. Privilege: Constitutional

Chapter 13. The Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Content</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>§ 114</td>
<td>The history and development of the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 115</td>
<td>Current nature and status of the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 116</td>
<td>Policy foundation of the privilege under federal constitutional and state law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 117</td>
<td>Where the privilege applies: Distinction between the privilege of an accused in a criminal case and the privilege of a “witness”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 118</td>
<td>Asserting the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 119</td>
<td>Personal nature of the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 120</td>
<td>Incrimination: A “real and appreciable” risk of contributing to prosecution and convictions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 121</td>
<td>Limitation of the privilege to protection against criminal liability: (a) In general</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 122</td>
<td>Limitation of the privilege to protection against criminal liability: (b) Distinguishing criminal and noncriminal legal liability</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 123</td>
<td>Limitation of the privilege to protection against criminal liability: (c) Incrimination under the laws of another jurisdiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 124</td>
<td>Limitation of the privilege to compelled “testimonial” activity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 125</td>
<td>Requirement of compulsion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 126</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to an accused in a criminal proceeding: (a) Inferences from and comment upon the accused’s reliance upon the privilege in the trial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 127</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to an accused in a criminal proceeding: (b) Impeachment and substantive use of prior invocation of the privilege or silence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 128</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to an accused in a criminal proceeding: (c) Instructing the jury regarding the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 129</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to an accused in a criminal proceeding: (d) “Waiver” of the privilege by voluntary testimony</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 130</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to a witness: (a) Invoking the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 131</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to a witness: (b) Rights to be warned and to counsel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 132</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to a witness: (c) Resolving a witness’s claim of the privilege</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 133</td>
<td>Privilege as applied to a witness: (d) “Waiver” by disclosure of incriminating facts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
§ 134 Privilege as applied to a witness: (e) Effect in a criminal trial of prosecution witness’s reliance on the privilege

§ 135 Privilege as applied to a witness: (f) Effect in a criminal trial of defense witness’s invocation of the privilege

§ 136 Burdens on exercise of the privilege

§ 137 Privilege as related to documents and tangible items: (a) Protection of contents and limits on use of “private” papers

§ 138 Privilege as related to documents and tangible items: (b) Compulsory production and incrimination by the “act of production”

§ 139 Privilege as related to documents and tangible items: (c) “Required records” and items possessed pursuant to regulatory schemes

§ 139.1 Privilege and compelling assistance in accessing data in electronic devices

§ 140 The privilege as related to corporations, associations, and their agents: (a) The privilege of the organization

§ 141 Privilege as related to corporations, associations, and their agents: (b) Agents’ ability to invoke their personal privilege and the “collective entity” rule

§ 142 Removing the danger of incrimination by granting immunity: (a) In general

§ 143 Removing the danger of incrimination by granting immunity: (b) “Transactional” versus “use” immunity

CHAPTER 14. CONFESSIONS

§ 144 “Confessions” and admissibility

§ 145 Corpus delicti or corroboration requirement: (a) In general

§ 146 Corpus delicti or corroboration requirement: (b) Requirement of independent proof of the corpus delicti

§ 147 Corpus delicti or corroboration requirement: (c) Requirement of evidence tending to establish truthfulness of statement

§ 148 Corpus delicti or corroboration requirement: (c) Future of the requirement

§ 149 Voluntariness, in general

§ 150 Self-incrimination (Miranda) requirements: (a) In general

§ 151 Self-incrimination (Miranda) requirements: (b) Applicability of Miranda; “custody,” “interrogation,” and exceptions
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>§ 152</td>
<td>Self-incrimination (Miranda) requirements: (c) Prohibition against interrogation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 153</td>
<td>Self-incrimination (Miranda) requirements: (d) Effectiveness of waivers; voluntariness and intelligence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 154</td>
<td>General right to counsel requirements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 155</td>
<td>Special problems: Promises made to suspects and deception of suspects</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 156</td>
<td>Delay in presenting arrested person before magistrate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 157</td>
<td>Reliability or trustworthiness as admission requirement</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 158</td>
<td>Mandatory recording of interrogations and confessions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 159</td>
<td>Evidence obtained as a result of inadmissible confessions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 160</td>
<td>Judicial confessions, guilty pleas, and admissions made in plea bargaining</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 161</td>
<td>“Tacit” and “adoptive” confessions and admissions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 162</td>
<td>Use of otherwise inadmissible confessions for impeachment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 163</td>
<td>Determining admissibility and credibility</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CHAPTER 15. THE PRIVILEGE CONCERNING IMPROPERLY OBTAINED EVIDENCE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>§ 164</td>
<td>Introduction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 165</td>
<td>Policy bases for exclusionary sanctions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 166</td>
<td>Federal constitutional exclusionary sanctions: (a) Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 167</td>
<td>Federal constitutional exclusionary sanctions: (b) Policy bases and analytical approach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 168</td>
<td>State constitutional exclusionary sanctions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 169</td>
<td>Exclusion for nonconstitutional illegality: (a) In general</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 170</td>
<td>Exclusion for nonconstitutional illegality: (b) Legislative requirements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 171</td>
<td>Exclusion for nonconstitutional illegality: (c) Judicially developed requirements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 172</td>
<td>Exclusion for nonconstitutional illegality: (d) Substance of exclusionary requirements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 173</td>
<td>Use of illegally obtained evidence in noncriminal litigation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 174</td>
<td>Use of illegally obtained evidence in criminal proceedings on matters other than guilt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 175</td>
<td>“Standing” and personal nature of rights</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>§ 176</td>
<td>Scope of exclusion: (a) Evidence acquired as a result of illegality (“fruit of the poisonous tree”)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
§ 177 Scope of exclusion: (b) Evidence with an “independent source”
§ 178 Effect of illegality upon “jurisdiction” over criminal defendants and exclusion of “identity”
§ 179 Exceptions to exclusion: (a) Attenuation of taint
§ 180 Exceptions to exclusion: (b) Intervening illegal conduct
§ 181 Exceptions to exclusion: (c) Inevitable discovery
§ 182 Exceptions to exclusion: (d) “Good faith”
§ 183 Exceptions to exclusion: (e) Use of illegally obtained evidence to impeach testifying defendant

TITLE 7. RELEVANCY AND ITS COUNTERWEIGHTS

CHAPTER 16. RELEVANCE
§ 184 Relevance as the presupposition of admissibility
§ 185 The meaning of relevancy and the counterweights

CHAPTER 17. CHARACTER AND HABIT
§ 186 Character, in general
§ 187 Character in issue
§ 188 Character as circumstantial evidence: General rule of exclusion
§ 189 Character for care in civil cases
§ 190 Bad character as evidence of criminal conduct—General rule of exclusion for other crimes
§ 190.1 — — —Permissible uses that are not true exceptions
§ 190.2 — — —Unified plan
§ 190.3 — — —“Signature” crimes
§ 190.4 — — —Rebutting claims of accident or innocently performed acts
§ 190.5 — — —Motive
§ 190.6 — — —Opportunity
§ 190.7 — — —Malice, deliberation or specific intent
§ 190.8 — — —Identity
§ 190.9 — — —Completing the story
§ 190.10 — — —Sex crimes
§ 190.11 — — —Balancing and other limitations and procedures
§ 191 Good character as evidence of lawful conduct: Proof by the accused and rebuttal by the government
§ 192 Character in civil cases where crime is in issue
§ 193 Character of victim in cases of assault, murder, and rape
§ 194 Evidence of character to impeach a witness
CHAPTER 18. SIMILAR HAPPENINGS AND TRANSACTIONS

§ 196 Other claims, suits, or defenses of a party
§ 197 Other misrepresentations and frauds
§ 198 Other contracts and business transactions
§ 199 Other sales of similar property as evidence of value
§ 200 Other accidents and injuries

CHAPTER 19. INSURANCE AGAINST LIABILITY

§ 201 Insurance against liability as proof of negligence

CHAPTER 20. EXPERIMENTAL AND SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE

I. SCIENTIFIC TESTS IN GENERAL

§ 202 Pretrial experiments
§ 202.1 —The substantial similarity requirement as applied
§ 202.2 —Substantial similarity reconceptualized
§ 202.3 —Procedural improvements
§ 203 Standards for admitting scientific evidence
§ 203.1 —The general-acceptance requirement
§ 203.2 —The retreat from general acceptance
§ 203.3 —The scientific-soundness requirement
§ 203.4 —Assessment of the requirements

II. PARTICULAR TESTS

§ 204 Physics and electronics: Speed detection and recording
§ 204.1 —Mechanical timing devices
§ 204.2 —Tachographs and event data recorders
§ 204.3 —Radar
§ 204.4 —Laser pulses
§ 205 Biology and medicine
§ 205.1 —Drunkeness
§ 205.2 —Blood and other tissue types
§ 205.3 —Principles of DNA typing
§ 205.4 —STR profiling
§ 205.5 —Mitochondrial sequencing
§ 205.6 —RFLP-VNTR profiling
§ 205.7 —Admissibility of DNA typing
§ 206 Psychology
§ 206.1 —Detection of deception
§ 206.2 ——Theories and instruments for lie detection
§ 206.3 ——Admissibility of lie-detector results
§ 206.4 ——Hypnosis and drugs
§ 206.5 —Eyewitness testimony
§ 206.6 —False confessions
§ 206.7 —Profiles and syndromes
§ 207 Criminalistics: Identifying persons and things
§ 207.1 —Fingerprinting
§ 207.2 —Voice spectrograms

III. STATISTICAL STUDIES

§ 208 Surveys and opinion polls
§ 209 Statistical evidence of association and causation
§ 209.1 —Types of studies
§ 209.2 —Magnitude and significance of disparities

IV. PROBABILITIES AS EVIDENCE

§ 210 Identification evidence and probabilities
§ 211 Paternity testing
§ 211.1 —The meaning of the “probability of paternity” and its components
§ 211.2 —Admissibility of the “probability of paternity” and its components

Volume 2

TITLE 8. REAL EVIDENCE, OTHER NONTESTIMONIAL EVIDENCE, AND DEMONSTRATIVE AIDS

CHAPTER 21. REAL EVIDENCE, OTHER NONTESTIMONIAL EVIDENCE, AND DEMONSTRATIVE AIDS

§ 212 Introduction
§ 213 Real evidence
§ 214 Demonstrative aids
§ 215 Photographs
TABLE OF CONTENTS

| § 216 | Video, film and sound recordings |
| § 217 | Demonstrations and experiments |
| § 218 | Computer-generated simulations and models |
| § 219 | Views |
| § 220 | Exhibits in the jury room |

TITLE 9. WRITINGS

CHAPTER 22. AUTHENTICATION

| § 221 | General theory: No assumption of authenticity |
| § 222 | Authentication by a percipient witness |
| § 223 | Authentication by proof of handwriting |
| § 224 | Authentication by distinctive characteristics and other circumstances |
| § 225 | Ancient documents |
| § 226 | Public records and reports |
| § 227 | Electronic and computer-generated documents |
| § 228 | Voice identifications and telephone calls |
| § 229 | Escapes from the requirement of producing evidence of authenticity: Modern procedural practice |
| § 229.1 | Self-authentication under Federal Rule of Evidence 902 |

CHAPTER 23. THE REQUIREMENT OF THE PRODUCTION OF THE ORIGINAL WRITING, RECORDING, OR PHOTOGRAPH AS THE “BEST EVIDENCE”

| § 230 | The “best evidence” rule: Not a general principle of evidence law |
| § 231 | The “best evidence” rule: The original document requirement |
| § 232 | The reasons for the rule |
| § 233 | The scope of the rule: Writings, recordings and photographs |
| § 234 | What constitutes proving the content |
| § 235 | What is an “original”? |
| § 236 | When is a “duplicate” admissible in lieu of the original? |
| § 237 | Excuses for nonproduction of the original |
| § 238 | No preferences among types of secondary evidence |
| § 239 | The originals of writings, recordings and photographs involved only collaterally need not be produced |
| § 240 | Original public records need not be produced |
§ 241 Summaries of voluminous writings, recordings and photographs
§ 242 Proof of contents of an original by testimony or written admission of a party
§ 243 Allocation of questions of fact between judge and jury
§ 243.1 Appellate review of rulings admitting secondary evidence

TITLE 10. THE HEARSAY RULE AND ITS EXCEPTIONS

CHAPTER 24. THE HEARSAY RULE
§ 244 The history of the rule against hearsay
§ 245 The reasons for the rule against hearsay; exceptions to the rule
§ 246 A definition of hearsay
§ 247 Distinction between hearsay rule and rule requiring firsthand knowledge
§ 248 Instances of the application of the hearsay rule
§ 249 Some out-of-court utterances that are not hearsay
§ 250 Conduct as hearsay and “implied assertions”
§ 251 Prior statements of witnesses as substantive evidence
§ 252 Constitutional problems of hearsay: Confrontation and due process
§ 253 The hearsay exceptions where declarant is unavailable; admission of hearsay as a consequence of wrongful procurement of unavailability

CHAPTER 25. AN OPPOSING PARTY’S STATEMENTS/ADMISSIONS
§ 254 Nature and effect
§ 255 Testimonial qualifications: Mental competency; personal knowledge
§ 256 Opposing party’s statements in opinion form; conclusions of law
§ 257 Opposing party’s statements in pleadings; pleas of guilty
§ 258 Testimony by the party as an admission
§ 259 Representative admissions; coconspirator statements
§ 260 Declarations by “privies in estate,” joint tenants, predecessors in interest, joint obligors, and principals against surety
§ 261 Admissions by conduct: (a) Adoptive admissions
§ 262 Admissions by conduct: (b) Silence

xxviii
CHAPTER 26. SPONTANEOUS STATEMENTS

§ 268  Res gestae and the hearsay rule

§ 269  Spontaneous statements as nonhearsay: Circumstantial proof of a fact in issue

§ 270  “Self-serving” aspects of spontaneous statements

§ 271  Unexcited statements of present sense impressions

§ 272  Excited utterances

§ 272.1  Excited utterances and other hearsay exceptions in sexual abuse cases

§ 273  Statements of physical or mental condition: (a) Statements of bodily feelings, symptoms, and condition

§ 274  Statements of physical or mental condition: (b) Statements of present mental or emotional state to show a state of mind or emotion in issue

§ 275  Statements of physical or mental condition: (c) Statements of intention offered to show subsequent acts of declarant

§ 276  Statements of physical or mental condition: (d) Statements of state of mind to show memory or belief as proof of previous happenings

CHAPTER 27. STATEMENTS FOR THE PURPOSE OF MEDICAL DIAGNOSIS OR TREATMENT

§ 277  Statements of bodily feelings, symptoms, and condition: (a) Statements made to physicians consulted for treatment

§ 278  Statements of bodily feelings, symptoms, and condition: (b) Statements made to physicians consulted only to testify
CHAPTER 28. RECORDS OF PAST RECOLLECTION
§ 279 History and theory of the exception
§ 280 Firsthand knowledge
§ 281 Record made while the witness's memory was clear
§ 282 Impairment of recollection
§ 283 Proving the accuracy of the record; multi-party situations

CHAPTER 29. REGULARLY KEPT RECORDS
§ 284 Admissibility of regularly kept records
§ 285 The origin of the regularly kept records exception and the shopbook vestige
§ 286 The regularly kept records exception in general
§ 287 Types of records; opinions; absence of entry
§ 288 Made in the routine of a “business”; accident reports; reports made for litigation; indications of lack of trustworthiness
§ 289 Made at or near the time of the transaction recorded
§ 290 Personal knowledge; all participants in regular course of business
§ 291 Unavailability
§ 292 Proof; who must be called to establish admissibility
§ 293 Special situations: (a) Hospital records
§ 294 Special situations: (b) Computer records

CHAPTER 30. PUBLIC RECORDS, REPORTS, AND CERTIFICATES
§ 295 The exception for public records and reports: (a) In general
§ 296 The exception for public records and reports: (b) Activities of the office; matters observed; investigative reports; restrictions on prosecutorial use
§ 297 The exception for public records and reports: (c) Vital statistics
§ 298 The exception for public records and reports: (d) Judgments in previous cases, especially criminal convictions offered in subsequent civil cases
§ 299 The exception for official certificates: (a) In general
§ 300 The exception for official certificates: (b) Certified copies or summaries of official records; absence of record
CHAPTER 31. TESTIMONY TAKEN AT A FORMER HEARING OR IN ANOTHER ACTION

§ 301 Introduction
§ 302 The requirement of oath and opportunity for cross-examination; unavailability
§ 303 Identity of parties; “predecessor in interest”
§ 304 Identity of issues; motive to cross-examine
§ 305 The character of the tribunal and of the proceedings in which the former testimony was taken
§ 306 Objections and their determination
§ 307 Methods and scope of proof
§ 308 Possibilities of improving existing practice

CHAPTER 32. DYING DECLARATIONS

§ 309 Introduction
§ 310 Requirements that declarant must have been conscious of impending death and that declarant must be unavailable
§ 311 Limitation to the use in criminal homicide cases and subject matter restrictions
§ 312 Admissible on behalf of accused as well as for prosecution
§ 313 Application of other evidentiary rules: personal knowledge; opinion; rules about writings
§ 314 Instructions regarding the weight to be given to dying declarations
§ 315 Suggestions for changes in the exception

CHAPTER 33. DECLARATIONS AGAINST INTEREST

§ 316 General requirements; distinction between declarations against interest and admissions
§ 317 Declarations against pecuniary or proprietary interest; declarations affecting claim or liability for damages
§ 318 Penal interest; interest of prestige or self-esteem
§ 319 Determining what is against interest; confrontation problems
§ 320 Unavailability of the declarant

CHAPTER 34. VARIOUS OTHER EXCEPTIONS AND THE FUTURE OF THE RULES ABOUT HEARSAY

§ 321 Learned treatises, industry standards, and commercial publications
§ 322 Reputation as to character; statements, reputation, and judgments as to pedigree and family history; reputation concerning land boundaries and general history
§ 323 Recitals in ancient writings and documents affecting an interest in property
§ 324 The residual hearsay exception
§ 324.1 Hearsay within hearsay; multiple hearsay
§ 324.2 Impeachment and rehabilitation of the hearsay declarant
§ 324.3 Basis for expert opinion as a quasi-hearsay exception
§ 325 Evaluation of the present rules
§ 326 The path of modern hearsay development
§ 327 The future of hearsay

TITLE 11. JUDICIAL NOTICE

CHAPTER 35. JUDICIAL NOTICE
§ 328 The need for and the effect of judicial notice
§ 329 Matters of common knowledge
§ 330 Facts capable of certain verification
§ 331 Social and economic data used in judicial law-making: “Legislative” facts
§ 332 The uses of judicial notice
§ 333 Procedural incidents
§ 334 Trends in the development of judicial notice of facts
§ 335 The judge’s task as law-finder: Judicial notice of law

TITLE 12. BURDEN OF PROOF AND PRESUMPTIONS

CHAPTER 36. THE BURDENS OF PROOF AND PRESUMPTIONS
§ 336 The burdens of proof: the burden of producing evidence and the burden of persuasion
§ 337 Allocating the burdens of proof
§ 338 Satisfying the burden of producing evidence
§ 339 Satisfying the burden of persuasion: (a) The measure of persuasion in civil cases generally
§ 340 Satisfying the burden of persuasion: (b) Requirement of clear and convincing proof
§ 341 Satisfying the burden of persuasion: (c) Proof beyond a reasonable doubt
§ 342 Presumptions, in general
TABLE OF CONTENTS

§ 343 Reasons for the creation of presumptions: Illustrative presumptions
§ 344 The effect of presumptions in civil cases
§ 345 Constitutional questions in civil cases
§ 346 Affirmative defenses and presumptions in criminal cases: (a) Terminology
§ 347 Affirmative defenses and presumptions in criminal cases: (b) Constitutionality
§ 348 Affirmative defenses and presumptions in criminal cases: (c) Special problems
§ 349 Choice of law

APPENDIX

Appendix A. Federal Rules of Evidence for United States Courts

Table of Laws and Rules
Table of Cases
Index